

Youth and Young Adult:

The Aliquot Letters

BonnieRobin Mariela Watau

Take a fanciful frolic across the landscape of faith, family and facing reality. Through mind-bending metaphor, deep truths become crystal clear.

BonnieRobin guides us through a “spy training school” for “spychicks who shower monthly” where we learn the phrase has nothing to do with how often they get in a stall with soap & hot water! The Letters written by a spy mentor deliver five distinct lessons for teen girls and young women. The lessons the mentor imparts are portions or aliquots of truth, which build on each other. You’ll learn more about yourself and your faith with a perspective you’ve likely never experienced before!

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

BonnieRobin Mariela Watau vibrantly captures the spirit of today's woman: intelligent, articulate, capable—and faithful. As a global thinker, she thrives in bringing timeless clarity to cultural trends relevant to teens and young modern women.

Mrs. Watau delights in spending the best part of her days with her husband Stanley and their two standard poodles Ridley and Scott.

Childrens:

GOAL: E4 TRANSFORMATION

OPPORTUNITY: We have a once-in-a-lifetime chance to transform child outcomes for the 1st generation of children of post-Communist European parents. Using the optimum blend of high-tech and high-touch, the Bridges Between Generations Publishing Partnership (BBG) aims to launch a series of books & events, lean-startup style, with customer-fit tests (educational events) that prove the market before printing large inventories. We’ll start with children's stories, which have puzzles embedded, to provide the wonder of discovery.

E4 = The Emerging Economies of Eastern Europe. Fewer than four out of five 17 year-olds remained in Romania education in 2011. Our model is to reach the parents through the grandparent-grandchild relationship!
